Level 30: Essence (or ethereal body) Retrieval and Restoration (or what body snatcher stole my ethereal body?)

Synchronicity... have you been having LOTS of that lately? A combination of both Webster and Wikipedia say that “Synchronicity is a term used by the Swiss psychologist Carl Jung to describe the alignment of universal forces with one's own life experience. Jung believed that some, but not all, coincidences were not mere chance, but instead a literal "co-inciding", or alignment of forces in the universe to create an event or circumstance. The process of becoming intuitively aware and acting in harmony with these forces is what Jung labeled ‘individuation.’ Jung said that an individuated person would actually shape events around them through the communication of their consciousness with the collective unconscious.”

Come to think about it, this phenomenon happens quite often for us. In fact, if we actually stop to think about it, most (if not ALL) of our work has “come in” this way. Some event will happen to “trigger” the intense need to figure out “something”. Usually we have no idea where this is all going. We will just go find a quiet place (hopefully near water) and listen to what the universe has to say – we spend time trying to figure out what “it” is all about for that moment, time to try to connect the dots, time to bounce ideas off of each other (and anyone else that will listen), time to do some searches on key words we are given, etc. Eventually this is what we signed “on” for (huh?), but I have to tell you, this is the first time we put the trigger together as part of the whole scenario. What seems random turns out to be some synchronistic event. It becomes pretty darn evident and out and out glaringly obvious that all this fits together. For example, some situation will come up – an email, a phone call, a newspaper or magazine article, a blurb on the TV, a conversation overheard, a picture taken out of context for what it was intended, etc. Something will “trigger” something within us. All the light bulbs go “off” in our heads, in fact, we sort of go into an alternate universe – here, but not here. We become spacey, irritable and totally out-of-our bodies. Most of the time it will happen to one of us and the other one of us will try to ground and be the note taker for the alternate universe person. This last time it zonked out both of us – man, we pitied anyone around us. What a ride this past week has been!!!

This time it was an email from a person we had never heard from... the email had a very short introduction about all the things wrong with life this individual. Following that was 10 pages of evaluations from all kinds of practitioners (literally 23 different ones)... all had completely different diagnosis as to what was wrong with the individual. All areas of the person were included... some emotional, some mental, some physical, some spiritual, some energetic – on and on and on. We have never seen such an extensive check list. This individual had more work proposed and done than anyone we had EVER heard about, read about, talked to, etc. Nothing worked, everything was “wrong”, everyone was a charlatan... everything was everyone else’s fault. Could we help? A pretty loaded question, don’t you think? We wanted to run and run away fast.

Another example is when a person comes to us with pages and pages and pages of all the schools and degree they have, conventions attended, classes taken, seminars gone to, gurus studies with, etc., but yet they feel empty, alone, unfulfilled, “not here”, worthless, etc. It brings up the question of why looking so hard outside of themselves?

But in checking the person over, we couldn't detect much of an essence. Soul, yes; physical body, yes; emotional body, yes; and so on. But, there wasn't much of an ethereal body, what was there was like a big sieve. We weren't sure how this individual was even 'here'. This person looked like a person does when they translate (die). The ethereal body is that energy field next to the body and extends just an inch or two away from our physical bodies and vibrates with the lowest frequencies. The ethereal body is concerned with our physical state of wellbeing. (It is actually supposed to be the vital body, the first or lowest layer in the 'human energy field'.)

It is said by many to be in immediate contact with the physical body, to sustain it and connect it with the higher bodies. The physical body is kept alive and structured by the ethereal body. The ethereal body is often seen as a separate body, but it is actually a template, a matrix for the physical body. The physical atoms, molecules and cells arrange themselves according to the structure of the ethereal body. The ethereal matrix looks like a web of energy lines, like light fibers which attract physical matter and arrange it into a physical body. You can say that the physical body is a duplicate of the ethereal body. Did you know that with children, when a piece of a finger got cut off, the part of the finger will grow back again (for some reason this ability gets lost in later years). How do the cells know how to structure themselves in order to grow a new finger? It is because they follow the ethereal matrix along which they align themselves. In primitive animals, like salamanders, this ability remains for their entire live. They will grow a new limb, or tail, easily. The ethereal body is responsible for the pain of so-called phantom limbs. It has been a medical mystery for a long time, that when a limb has been amputated, the patient will feel pain in this limb that actually is not there anymore. The pain is often long lasting. In the light of the above we can explain this pain in phantom limbs. Although the physical limb has gone, the ethereal counterpart is still there. The surgical removal of that limb created an immense trauma on the body. In normal circumstances traumas settles themselves on muscles, creating muscle spasms which in turn creates pain. As the physical body by itself is inert, the trauma always happens on the level of the ethereal body, which will pass on the trauma to the physical body, mostly to the muscles. In the case of an amputated limb, the trauma is still in the ethereal counterpart of that limb, and thus pain is felt. It just does not have the ability to express itself on the physical level. People have successfully removed this 'phantom' pain by methods of relaxation, hypnosis and energy work.

Although the physical body can lose parts or can be deformed during the course of a lifetime, the ethereal body should always remain the same. The only change that can happen to the ethereal body is constriction on the energy flow through its fibers (also called nadis). This will result in ailments and diseases in the physical body. When the nadis are 'cleared', or the constriction of them lifted, by energy healing of one kind or another, the physical ailments or diseases will disappear.

The ethereal body absorbs the solar and lunar pranas (subtle energies) and transforms them into the necessary life energies for the physical body. They keep the physical body not only alive but also healthy. The ethereal body acts especially on the muscles, and with the ethereal body we experience time.

The physical body, as it is composed of physical matter is by itself inert. It is through the ethereal body that we feel pain, suffering, hunger, thirst and other 'physical' comforts or discomforts.

Now that you have an idea about how important the ethereal body is, you will understand why it "blew" our minds to see this individual's lack of one. Where did it go? What happened? It was intact when we were born (or at least most ALL babies have an intact essence or ethereal body.)

Now we want you to think of your journey up until this point in time. Have you ever been drawn to an educator, healer, medical doctor, psychologist, chiropractor, massage therapist, sound therapy, aroma therapist, acupuncturist, hair dresser, gemologist, herbalist, color therapy, light therapy, NLP, hypnotherapy, disease diagnosis (chronic fatigue, fibromyalgia, cancer, heart disease, etc.), diet program, etc. Have you observed a person that you feel is smarter than you are and you attach your energy to that individual? These are examples of things that you could give your power to or chord to or examples of things "taking" our energy or parts of our essence. We have talked before about removing cords but have not talked about removing your energy or essence from the thing that you have corded before the cord has been cut. This we believe is one of the problems.

For those of you who have had surgeries that you have had a part of your physical body removed (it could be a tooth, appendix, tonsils, adenoids, any form of amputation, etc.), you must bring back the healthy part of your body back to you for your essence to be complete. This we believe is another part of the problem. I (Diane) was in an auto accident about 20 years ago. I was thrown out of the window of my car- my right leg got caught on my way to the pavement. it was pretty torn and broken up. The leg had missing chunks, the knee cap was broken in many pieces and part of the bone fork (tibia) that holds the bottom part of the leg in place was totally missing. They wanted to amputate my leg. The orthopedist said he couldn't save the leg but I would not let him remove it. The doctors put the leg together with literally hundreds of rubber bands and staples. The recovery was long and very painful. I had read somewhere (this was before we had been formally exposed to all this metaphysical stuff, we didn't even know it existed) that every cell in your body is replaced by one just like it – and in a seven year period, every cell would have been replaced. I thought to myself that I wanted a perfect cell to replace the damaged one so I just imagined my leg perfectly healed. In fact, I never looked at it as less than perfect. One of the things the orthopedist had me do was to look at the mangled leg and “own” it – He told me after the operation to re-assemble my leg that I wouldn't do it; and not only that, I was going to imagine all the missing pieces of my leg back “in” me. Of course, he looked at me as if I was nuts and told me it must be the pain medication. I just didn't want “him” to win... so I persisted with my thinking. Years later, in fact about 7, I went back to this same orthopedist for a post, post look-see with x-rays. The x-rays showed a perfect leg with all the bones intact. He said the first x-rays must have been lost and the ones I had weren't mine. I had unconsciously brought back my missing essence pieces. Interesting, huh? We have told this story many times but only with the replacing injured cells with perfect ones. It had never dawned on us until now that I also had retrieved my missing parts of my ethereal body. I am now working on the titanium knee that replaced my left knee injured in an auto accident a couple of years ago... funny thing is... I know I brought back my essence... now I want a “real” knee... yep, think that is what I am working on now - who knows?

Many of you have the ability to generate a lot of energy or light. There are people in the world that are energy vampires that knowingly tap into people to take their energy for their personal use. You as individuals may or may not know these people. They could tap into your energy as you walk down the street or through a mall. We are not saying these things so you become paranoid, just so you become aware of the possibilities that do exist. This is one reason that we recommend everyone to do the gold light exercise on a regular basis. This, we believe, is another part of the holy or missing ethereal body problem.

Where do we go from here? We retrieve all the parts of your essence that have either been taken or you have given away. This process is quite intense on our part because a small part of your essence could be located in many places plus we clean your essence of all the pieces that belong to others.

Consider the essence of a new born baby. This essence is whole and complete at birth and remains protected and complete for the few years of life. Your essence is like your original blueprint that your body grows to fulfill. Your divine essence is what man always has been, at this moment is, and always will be. Each living being is a part of the Divine. It is often compared with a star, or a light spark. Although it seems that each living being is a separate light spark in this universe of darkness, our divine essence links us all together, as in the Divine there is no distinction, only unity prevails. Our divine essence does not know duality, only unity.

Symptoms that may indicate your essence or ethereal body has holes in it: Things to fill or void or individual need... You are always searching for something to fill a void and you don't even know what you are searching for but you keep gathering things that you think could possibly fill the need you have. You can't quite seem to heal things that should be healable. Remember it is your essence or ethereal body that helps repair the physical body... if something is missing, it can't very well work for you, can it?

Was this person even real? Who knows? If you are familiar at all with any of our story... chances are, this person doesn't exist here in the 3rd dimension at all. All we do know is that the universe wanted us to present this work. So, here it is. This work is much like soul retrieval BUT this is not soul retrieval. In soul retrieval, we journey to find all parts of the missing soul from all lifetimes, all eras until all parts are placed back together. The journey takes us across many dimensions, eras and time periods. Essence retrieval is just this lifetime and is the energy field just an inch or two away from our physical body and vibrates with the lowest frequencies. Again, the ethereal body is concerned with our physical state of wellbeing. It becomes vulnerable when we give away parts of ourselves, have it stolen, or just lose it through daily living experiences. We retrieve all parts of the essence and restore them to the way it was originally at birth and will give you exercises so you can keep it intact. Can you do this yourself? Probably, but you can also pull your own teeth, birth your own babies, set your own broken bones, educate or teach yourself all things, etc. Time is of the essence... do you have the time to do this yourself?

Because of the time involved, the cost will be $855.00.
