Level 40: Connect to the New Source Energy (Disconnect the Old - Connecting to the New)

A number of years ago we had the opportunity to go to Uruguay. Diane and I were staying on a ranch that was located a few hours from Punta Del Este. The reason I am bringing this up at this time is to refer to one of Diane's latest blogs about, "The Good Old Days, Were They? Living in the NOW." This ranch or Estonia, although modern in many ways did not have electricity from a large power plant. They had a huge generator that was turned on at a certain time in the morning and turned off at a certain time in the evening. Do you know how dark it can get in a geographical area that has absolutely no electricity? All you see is miles and miles of darkness after the sun goes down. You step outside at night and look around and your only source of light (non-manufactured) light is your solar system. The only reason you knew you were not in a void all alone were the voices of the others you were with and the local noise and smell of a working ranch that had thousands of sheep and a few horses. This proved to be a very special adventure in our life. Our purpose for this trip was to help connect the vortex that was located on the ranch, with other vortexes located in Bermuda, Santa Fe, Punta Del Este and the Isle of Mann. We were successful in doing this work but came back with much, much more. At this time we were fairly new members on this so called, "Path of Enlightenment", just opening up to the realm of other possibilities.

One of the things we did on this ranch was to walk along the driveway in the dark before we went to bed. In looking at the night sky with the stars in a whole new arrangement (Southern Hemisphere) was very unusual for us and we wanted to take in as much of this energy as we could. On one evening stroll we were lead to visit the vortex on the ranch. The vortex was about a half mile from the guest house we were staying in, on the far side of a pasture. There was a full moon on this particular evening and everything seemed magical.

When arriving at the vortex where a large quartz crystal had been placed, we heard voices. We could not determine where the voices were coming from. Finally we figured out that the voices were coming from the vortex opening and the beings located below the surface of the Earth. These beings lived in the Earth and there pathway to the surface had been sealed. They had been trapped for thousands of years and could not get out. They asked us for help. Diane and I further opened the vortex, like spinning mechanism on an old outdated safe to open it. The beings that were trapped inside the Earth were in a very fragile state and as they began to assimilate to the atmosphere, they began to emit a very vibrant color. The reason I am explaining this story is because these beings have come back to assist us with Level 40.

For those of you who are practicing the exercises with Level 38 and 39, Level 40 will help you immensely. Besides being connected to the new source energy, Level 40 will help you master and be more proficient with levels 38 and 39.

I can hear all of you saying, another level so soon!!! Remember it is not us... you can't believe the pushing, nudging, elbowing, hair-pulling, sleepless nights, lucid dreaming, earth-quaking energy that is forcing us to write down our thoughts. I heard it said once that only in soundness of mind can our awareness be enhanced. So we continue our quest to enhance our awareness which at this point seems like an endless journey.

A few weeks ago we traveled over to Bainbridge Island. There are two ways to go. We have a choice of travelling over land and bridges or we can travel over water (Puget Sound) via a ferry. I remember a few years ago when the thought of traveling by ferry brought up a lot of anxiety. What if I get on the wrong ferry, what if my car stalls, how they know where they are going in the fog, you know all the mental barriers you put up before you try a new adventure.

Think about how you have progressed learning how to travel by land, over water, and air travel. Until you have done these different modes of travel a few times and learn the rules or laws you have or could have a few anxieties or fears come up. So in our daily routine, traveling via land, water or air are elements of the environment that we use. We are expanding our horizons by traveling using your awareness. This is an energetic element. Energetic elements exist in our multi-dimensional universe. We as average individuals have no problems understanding the physical elements. Using our awareness as an energetic element of our environment is becoming part of the essence of who we are. In order to explore this new element we have had to free our bodies of the existing energies (physical denseness) that have kept us earth-bound. Practicing, perfecting and trusting in our abilities on these journeys are our keys to success. Learning to use the energy we have access to do develop the energy body while in the multi-verse. How to use our awareness as an element of the environment in order to enter the energy body and all our physicality into the other worlds is the goal of this level. (Re-read this about 16 times) Are you ready for this adventure? Cost is: $1,299. Although the price is high, it will take us nearly a month to complete this level for you – and you will be our total focus during this time. This level completes the 37, 38, 39, 40 series. It has been life changing for us... You may want to let us know if you want this level so we can get you on the schedule.
