

Chapter 7: Awakening the Pivotal (Infinity) Chakra

You are not going mad, even if you at times feel a strong sense of bewilderment and separation. You are in fact just rediscovering your freedom. So take it slow and remember to check in with your center and always BREATHE. For your conscious breath is what connects you to this amazing vehicle that you inhabit and the two of you are not about to lose contact anytime soon, no matter how distant and befuddled you might feel in the time ahead. Remember the reason you are here is to accomplish this transition while still residing in your physical body.

What is it? The Pivotal Chakra or energy center is the pivot point that mirrors our chakra system and dimensions which;

- a. It strengthens our connection to Mother Earth or grounding.
- b. It is our original inner connection to source. When I first focused on this chakra, I kept getting the image of a belly button. Our soul immersed from source through this Pivotal (Infinity) Chakra point.
- c. It encompasses and connects us to the Elemental Kingdom which we have been disconnected from eons ago and helps to balance out the Animal Kingdom and Plant Kingdom. Many of you feel you already have a connection to the Elemental Kingdom but it will even be a better and fulfilling connection than you already have.

Where is it? The Pivotal (Infinity) Chakra is located deep within the earth and varies in depth from ½ a mile to a mile or more depending on the energy of the moment.

Why is it important? This inner connection to Source will provide us with additional nutrition that our souls have been lacking for thousands of years. We were separated from this form of nutrition that we have been starved from since we were transplanted here from various universes or star systems. This is the next step in learning how to time travel and we are replacing the outdated merkaba with a new mode of transportation. Also, by acknowledging and accepting the Elemental Kingdom, we can work in partnership with these beings to assist Mother Earth in raising her vibration and shift to a crystalline based system.

Why do we need it? It will strengthen our connection to Earth and help us stay centered and balanced. We can't wait to see how the connection to Source energy will affect us in the future. Without awakening and activating the Pivotal (Infinity) Chakra, the ascension process for Mother Earth would not happen in a timely fashion or be delayed for quite some time.

Our friend Cyndi Dale, the author of New Chakra Healing, was in Seattle for a book signing for her latest book. We had a chance to talk to her briefly about this new chakra and she verified the existence of this chakra.

With the activation of this chakra, you may be transported to a chamber that is made up of gray/blue to white crystals. This stone may be celestite. At this point we are not sure if this chamber is part of this chakra or you gain access to this chamber once this chakra has been activated for you. We have been going to this chamber during our quiet times or meditation to get a better sense of its purpose. When in this chamber, it feels like a place that souls would go to get rejuvenated or begin to restore the original connection to again receive the flow of energy from source. This very special inner chamber has the same feeling of a very old library that is just packed with old manuscripts on any subject that you would be interested in researching. Once there and your desire is stated, it feels like you actually go to a specific place to receive and learn the information that you were seeking. Almost like time travel or is it time travel? You have the ability to travel in any direction without limitations.

In the midst of receiving this information the question came up again... “What does ascension mean to you?” My answer in its simplest form is having a stronger connection to Source and yet remain in the physical body. What does ascension mean to you? We truly believe that this chapter of work will strengthen our connection to Source. Whatever benefits occur with this awakening and connection is a bonus.

No matter what experiences you are going through focus on your intent, you may gain hope, inspiration and courage to truly let go and allow Spirit to work its magic in your life. The road of life is long and ever changing. You let things go and then they come back around. The important thing for us is to remember to embrace these truths and remain authentic, release your resistance to the change and allow your life to take its course. You must remain flexible but discerning in your choices.

In your discovery of finding your authentic self, do you have a tendency to make your experiences complicated, keep things simple, or do you believe that life's great mysteries need to be complex and long-winded to find. Do think that anything worth having has to cost you time, effort and money. What is going on in your personal life? Your own energy attracts experiences that are unique sets of circumstances that are all truly a reflection of you. When you are in the correct flow of source energy life is simple, free of complication and struggle.

Our world is governed by our Source Energy. In this world, life is simple. We are in the process of making shifts and changes striving to make more room in our life to be simplified. We feel as though we are in a constant state of change in search of discovering our truth. With the activation of the Pivotal (Infinity) Chakra the true connection to the energy of source will be restored to what it was when our soul was created.

You need to be more aware of how Spirit communicates with you with the activation of the Pivotal (Infinity) Chakra. Information can come to you in many different ways and we just need to be more aware of the messages and ways that we can develop our abilities, seeing, in dreams, hear their thoughts, hear their voices, feel their presence, etc. It is nice to have someone in your life that you can discuss the feelings and thoughts that you are experiencing that will not judge you or call you crazy. I always like to keep alert to what my natural inclinations are. The body is an excellent barometer of honest, authentic flow. As I am learning and begin to follow those inclinations, the mind will frequently begin presenting a host of things, "I should be doing..." or "have to get done..." The louder the ruckus in my mind, the more certain I become that my body is subtly trying to show me something wonderful, to break old patterns and forge new paths. As guilt and doubt begin to crowd around me, as I follow that energy on the way, I've learned to become quite certain that hidden treasures lie ahead.

With the New Year, new energies, we really need to figure out who we are and to stand in our truth and be more visible. We can no longer hide in the background. Again we say, you need to focus on WHO you are and all aspects of you. While problems, natural or created by humans, always occur, you best prepare by focusing on yourself. Problems can be external or internal, but you will be in your greatest position of power and intuition to know how to handle these and to be able to take your appropriate actions when you are connected to your own authenticity, your own self. In this new age, things will become clearer and priorities will become more of a focal point and sometimes earth changes can assist these new skills. To be connected to your own authenticity is very powerful. Who you truly are is more than just your authentic self; it is also your Source Energy. As your vibration is being raised it will unmask other denser energies, such as the energies of stress or worry, leaving you with more of your sense of self.

In your day to day processes, a practice of mindfulness and meditation can create conscious and loving behaviors in you and in turn those around you. When things around you begin to feel chaotic, overwhelming or just dissatisfying, ask these questions:

What am I projecting to others and my environment?
What am I thinking about this situation or person?
How can I change my thoughts and feelings about this to reflect love?
What am I really upset about?
What can I give to someone else that I feel I am lacking?

When you begin to clarify how you feel and shift to a place of love for yourself and others, you will instantly see a shift of energy. Sometimes that means allowing others to feel angry, sad or take time to be alone. Allow others the freedom to express themselves fully is the ultimate act of love. If they are being abusive then it is up to you to stay centered and a safe distance from them allowing them their process. Know you can't change someone and accept you can only change yourself.

Love is a force that connects us to every strand of the universe, an unconditional state that characterizes human nature, a form of knowledge that is always there for us if only we can open ourselves to it. Emily H. Sell

With the previous levels of work under our belt, so to say, we are learning to work more from our heart-center. As we are learning to make this shift there are periods of time that we forget to stay connected to Mother Earth and it feels like we are floating around bouncing from here to there without any control what-so-ever. Remember as we expand into the universe we also need to expand into the earth to remain physical in a multidimensional world. When this is learned and mastered, the human souls will become more self-reliant and moving into alignment with the divine. Law, for example, is moving into divine law. Medicine is moving into divine medicine. Education is moving into divine education, and this applies to every field of human endeavor. In other words, we are moving into heart-centered life. This is what we are raising our vibrational frequencies into being.

Currently, the Merkaba that Drunvalo describes (a star tetrahedron, a three dimensional 8 pointed star made from two spinning triangular pyramids, one pointing up and the down, harmonizing male and female energy and is separate from our physical body) is made up of three small words – Mer, Ka and Ba. Mer refers to a specific kind of light; Ka refers to the individual spirit's interpretation of its particular reality. Ba is usually defined as the body or physical reality. The word merkaba has been translated from other languages to mean vehicle, chariot, ride, wagon, conveyance or railroad.

The Zulu tribe in Africa described the Zulu word Merkaba as meaning a space/time/dimension vehicle. The Zulu legend handed down throughout history stated that their entire tribe had come from another dimension here to Earth using the Merkaba. It seems like this is the Merkaba or vehicle that we want to duplicate since the physical body was transported.

The ascension process is the process of raising the vibration of the physical body, mind, heart and spirit to completely integrate into one pattern of light. The merkaba or star tetrahedron is not the right vehicle to do this. Up until now, this vehicle has worked to some extent but we have been told and shown that some changes need to be made in order to take us where we desire to go. At this point in time we know that proper breathing, meditation (intent), less dense physical body, along with the vibration of love are things we must master to accomplish our goal but something was missing.

In the movie, “Back to the Future”, the flux capacitor along with a jolt of lightning with the car traveling at 88 mph allowed Michael J. Fox to travel through time. A transporter, in the Star Trek series is a fictional machine. Transporters convert a person or object into a pattern (a process called dematerialization), then "beam" it to a target, where it is reconverted a person or object back into matter (rematerialization). Another movie, “Bill and Ted’s Excellent Adventure”, featured a phone booth for their mode of transportation. The Tardis (in Doctor Who) was a 1950’s style London police box, transported the Time Lord back and forth through time. H. G. Wells is considered to be the father of time travel. He first published in 1895 a time machine that had the ability to move in small increments or large spans of time.

The question now is, “What is our Merkaba?” Our merkaba will be taking our body with us and that is what this chapter of work is about.

As we are shifting and expanding trying to find our way through the void, do not berate yourselves whenever you feel yourself falling under the spell from the void. It is a powerful place and it can leave you feeling almost powerless. Know that this is not true, as you have all stepped into your powers, but as you have yet to be allowed to “touch ground” with your new home, your powers will seem to be almost nonexistent at the moment. That is about to change, as you will all be allowed to send your energy down into the new earth that awaits you and then you will start to feel how your powers will start to make themselves heard again. This is not a signal that you are disconnected from it all because of your actions or inactions in any way, far from it. This step into the void is an important part of the process for you need this period to reboot and rewind after that long immersion into the third dimensional world before you literally reconnect with your true self, but also with your new multidimensional home. Go easy on yourself and let yourself rant and rave, don't hold back on any old emotional patterns that arise, so just let them pass through you in order to let of some of the steam of frustration that has built up in this holding pattern you are currently in.

Remember as we are shifting and changing within the physical etheric, mental and emotional bodies at an atomic cellular level not only within humanity but this is also being mirrored in the physical etheric, mental and emotional strata of Mother Earth. OUR first step is to be willing to consciously and deliberately participate in the transformation of our carbon-based cells into the crystalline-based cells so our bodies can channel more light and higher vibrations.

The second step involves helping and assisting Mother Earth with her transforming her carbon-based cells into the crystalline-based cells. This can only be accomplished by healing the schism (A split or division between strongly opposed sections or parties, caused by differences in opinion or belief) that exists between humanity and the Elemental Kingdom. This chapter of work repairs the connection between the Elemental Kingdom and Humanity. We have a strong connection to the Plant and Animal Kingdoms but our vibration has not been to the point that we have had the ability to connect to the Elemental Kingdom. You may think that you have had a strong connection in the past but it existed in your realm of wishful thinking.

What is the Elemental Kingdom? There is a group of Elementals for each of the elements – Earth, Air, Water and Fire. Paracelsus was responsible for the names of the Elementals. He was a Swiss physician, alchemist mystic and medical critic who was born in 1493. He is considered the most original medical thinker of the 16th century and was believed to be far ahead of all other medical scientists of his time. Paracelsus believed universities didn't teach everything needed to become a good physician and that experience was more valuable than the dry scholasticism of ancient tomes. Paracelsus was a believer in supernatural things, intuition and the invisible causes of illness. His major work was in reconciling the art of healing with Christian and Pagan religion, studying the philosophy of spiritual substance warning his contemporaries that to divide therapy from religion was grave error in judgment. He believed the advancement of practical therapy depended upon a continuous exploration of the invisible side of nature, a search for causes and the realization that man was not simply a physical creature but a living soul whose internal attitudes could profoundly affect his health. He stated "The Elementals are not properly spirits, because they have flesh, blood and bones; they live and propagate offspring's; they eat and talk, act and sleep. They are beings occupying a space between men and spirits, resembling men and women in their organization and form and resembling spirits in the rapidity of their locomotion." He also stated, "All life is built up from a protoplasmic mixture of carbon (earth), hydrogen (water), oxygen (air) and nitrogen (fire). Each element has a material (fixed and vaporous (mobile) substance. Every created being has two bodies. One is visible and material and the other invisible and transcendent. This includes the Earth itself, whose etheric body is our Mother and from whose substance we are built.

Most of humanity does not even realize that there is intelligence in matter. The Elemental Kingdom is responsible for our picturing the thoughts of humanity to include feelings, words, actions, beliefs and behavior patterns in the physical world of form. The intent of this service is to allow us to experience in a tangible way the results of what we are co creating. By reconnecting with the elemental kingdom one aspect of this reconnection is to remember the sacred knowledge that we all clearly knew and understood prior to this embodiment. It has taken a long time to remind and awaken Humanity about the Elementals who have volunteered to assist us in learning to be co creators during Mother Earth's process. We must help with this multidimensional process or the ascension process will be delayed.

Could the disconnection from the Elemental Kingdom be the missing piece to understanding the "Theory of Everything?" Some of the thrill that came with the announcement that the human genome had been mapped or the idea that we are close to understanding the "Big Bang" rests in our innate human desire for completeness and totality. But most of these comprehensive theories fail to take into account one crucial factor: We are creating them. It is the biological creature that fashions the stories, that makes the observations and that gives names to things. Therein lies the great expanse of our oversight, that science has not confronted the one thing that is at once most familiar and most mysterious – consciousness.

By reuniting and connecting to the Elemental Kingdom we believe biologists and physicists may look at things in a more basic simplified nature. At this point there is nothing in modern physics that explains how a group of molecules in a brain creates consciousness. The beauty of a sunset, the taste of a delicious meal, these are all mysteries to science – which can sometimes pin down where in the brain the sensations arise, but not how and why there is any subjective personal experience to begin with. Nothing in science at this time can explain how consciousness arose from matter. Our understanding of this most basic phenomenon is virtually nil. Interestingly, most models of physics do not even recognize this as a problem.

As Humanity and Mother Earth learn to work more closely together and transform into a crystalline-based cell structures information can flow into the mental and emotional strata of Earth and it will be readily available to anyone who is willing to lift up in consciousness and listen to his or her heart. You will have the ability to ask your inner knowing to reveal to you your part of this Divine Plan and respond according to your Hearts Call.

Earth Chakras --Caretaking the Soul of Mother Earth

Just as you have energy centers in your body called Chakras, so too does Mother Earth.

As we walk upon the earth, we walk upon a living being more similar to ourselves than we imagine. Just like us, the earth has both a physical body and an energetic body, complete with a chakra system identified by ancient mystics and modern scientists alike. Mother Earth is a living entity in her own right that has her own life force and her own path of unfolding, separate from us, but including us. Human beings and Mother Earth are intertwined on every level, not just the physical, and an awareness of her chakras can help us to acknowledge, heal, and enable her on her path, just as she selflessly returns the favor to us.

It is generally agreed that Mother Earth has seven major chakras distributed evenly across her body and connected to one another via two lines of energy that intersect at various points on the earth.

The first chakra is located at Mount Shasta in Northern California;

The second is in Lake Titicaca in South America;

The third chakra is in Uluru-Kata Tjuta in Australia;

The fourth chakra resides in Glastonbury in England;

The fifth chakra is at the Great Pyramid in Mount of Olives;

The sixth chakra is in Kuh-e Malek Siah in Iran, and

The seventh chakra is in Mount Kailas in Tibet.

In addition to her seven major chakras, she has minor chakras and other vortexes of energy that are significant to her life-energy systems and all these energy centers need caretaking. Just as we can heal ourselves through our own chakras, we can heal and support Mother Earth through hers.

While it would be a wonderful experience to visit one of the earth's chakras, you can always participate in loving and healing Mother Earth wherever you are. Maintaining an awareness of the regions in which her chakras reside can be very powerful. You may have photos of the various locations, sending healing energy to each of her chakras during your meditations or whenever you are drawn to do so. As you consciously connect your energy system to her energy system, the true meaning of groundedness reveals itself—it is a relationship with Mother Earth in which we acknowledge our calling as the caretakers of her soul.

Remember whatever is happening with Mother Earth (storms, earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, tornadoes, flooding, wind, fires, extreme temperatures, droughts, avalanches, mud slides, etc.) is also mirrored with our physical body and vice versa.

So, what are the benefits of this chapter of work?

1. Our Pivotal (Infinity) Chakra will be awakened/activated.
2. It will strengthen our connection to Mother Earth.
3. The next step in learning how to time travel with the new merkaba.

4. Restore our inner connection to Source.
5. Connects us, Humanity to the Elemental Kingdom which balances out the Plant Kingdom and Animal Kingdom.

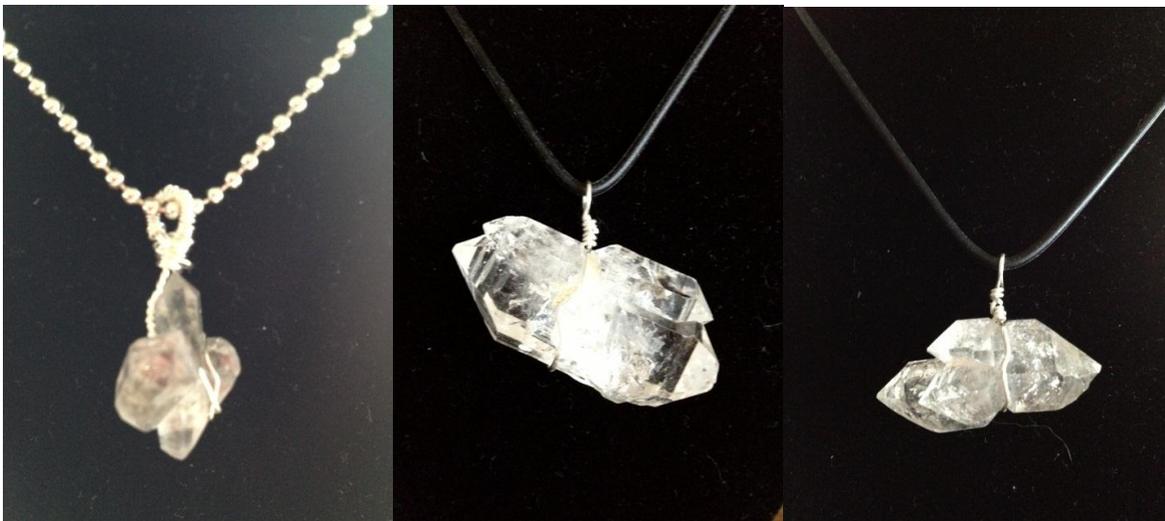

Cost is.....

Chapter 7: Awakening the Pivotal (Infinity) Chakra $1500...

Chapter 7: Awakening the Pivotal (Infinity) Chakra with 1 month of 3 C's (Consulting, Counseling, Coaching) : $1700

Let us know at drsmick@gmail.com... this one is the most time consuming of any we have done so far... This chapter, by far, has been the most difficult to write up and understand AND the most life changing for us.

Loren is also offering a piece of jewelry to help facilitate Chapter 7... The stone is Quartz Elestial... and has been used to assist all the processes in this work. The pictures below are some he has created.... (the cost will depend on the size of the stone, they are quite rare and difficult to find.- Diane's stone is less than 1 inch tall, 1/2 to 3/4 inch wide...Loren's is 2 inches by 1 inch; The third one) is 1 1/2 inches wide by about 1 inch tall....prices will vary from $50 to $80 and each one uniquely made for you).
