

Mickelson Muse

From our state of deep thought or dreamy abstraction.
No. 11, December 2003

Greetings.....

Is it really possible that it is time for another one of these musings???? Has time really flown by that fast???? The significance of all the events and happenings of the year 2003 may not be clearly obvious to any of us yet. It certainly has been a wild ride, huh? If we take the time to look at every event of this past year, not only from our individual “little worlds” or from the astrological viewpoints, but really take time to search out the political events, all the environmental events (fires, power outages, solar flares), all the social happenings.. you will realize that although it seems pretty chaotic, everything is and has been heading towards purification... cleaning out of the old.... We have come through (and are still continuing in) the Harmonic Concordance. This was (is) a multi-purpose energy and is truly one of the most powerful ones we have ever encountered. What it has done is enable you (and society) to move into the next higher step. It has prepared you by pushing your buttons to get you to take a good look at anything within you that might stand in your way. Every test and learning experience that you have ever taken and passed is going to be reviewed and put in your face again, just to make sure that you’ve got it and as you proceed in your life, you will not go into those patterns again. You have been cleaning out old patterns and things that no longer fit with the new energies that are coming in. You will be asked to use your talents and skills as never before. You will be asked to believe things that you have never considered believing before. You might see in the physical beings that have transitioned (translated, died) standing before you... you might be seeing instant healings that previously you thought were impossible.

Also, I want to add here that not all folks that have become catastrophically ill will be healed (we tend to think in these times of manifestation of healing “everyone”)...it may be in their life plan to return to spirit, but your “job” will be to remove them from a state of fear and enable them to go home joyously. You can create peace around them so that when the family gathers, they all will know peace.

So.. Convergence (coming together)... Remember the Harmonic Convergence of 1987???? Now, concordance (Harmonic Concordance in November) was the end result. Both energies were released in the harmonics. If you think of harmonic in terms of a single note on a keyboard, that is one way, but you can have many chords being played at the same time that sound good together; they have reached concordance. If you think in terms that each note of each chord is an individual thought from each individual on the planet, and that harmonic concordance brings all together in a balanced way... we’ve got a plan for a peaceful world.

Manifestation is becoming very, very fast... so watch where your thoughts are... We many times think of manifesting only good things... remember we can “create” negative things also... fear of an accident.. can cause it.... Fear of no money, can create no money.... Fear of being alone can create aloneness. So be very careful where your thoughts go.....

To bring a manifestation into material form can only occur through material beings... (that is us, folks)... We often choose to believe only what we can see with our physical eyes. Does that mean the other dimensions do not exist??? All (other dimensional beings and us) work hand in hand to attain common goals. You can only experience the other dimensions usually through your intuitive body, but it is sometimes so overwhelmed with negative emotions we don't perceive clearly... we let the logical mind interfere. We look at our world.. we see a distortion of the emotional beliefs that we all have created and called our reality. We were born accepting all the distortions as our way to survive in this lifetime. BUT what would happen if we practiced balancing all aspects of our mind (the emotions with the feelings and the logic)???? Then balance that with the spirit (the belief of the things you just know) and the physical body... you would come to center... center all components of self. The soul self, the Higher self, the sad self, the tired self, the hurt self, the aware self, the unaware self, the know it all self, the child self, the adult self, on and on and on.... All these selves that you are is your make-up. When all of these selves are centered within.. your perception changes. Then an understanding and acceptance takes place that was not known and experienced before. When centered.... ((balance between physical body, mind (emotion, feeling, logic) and spirit)), all truth is easily available and accessible. There is no longer a struggle.

So what about all the gloom and doom that all the naysayers predict????? We read from a channeling by Lady Kadjina last month.. an interesting way to look at prophesy... "Remember that a prophecy that has come to pass is a prophecy that has failed. Why? Because a prophecy is given to you that you might take action. And when a prophecy has been averted, then you have become successful and done your job well. The only things that cannot change are those things which are "fiats"(according to Webster... a fiat is an authoritative decree). A prophecy is never a fiat; it is never an absolute; it is always subject to change. Prophecies that have been deemed to be correctly predicted are failures on the part of humanity, who did not act to avert the prediction." So when you look at it from this perspective.... that a prophecy... be it Nostrodamas or any of the Biblical prophecies... can be averted, if WE makes changes.... then we truly can have the world we all want. We CAN make a difference... each one of us can, by our very thoughts.

We've been asked recently "What about heart?" "Why do you concentrate on creating balance between just body, mind and spirit? Where is the heart???" We get so much flack about not talking about heart.... We will ask... What is meant by heart??? Do you mean the physical heart... which is an organ that circulates the blood in our body? Or... do you mean the heart which is referred to as "love"? They are different... we talk about balance. Your physical heart needs to be "listened" to in order for your physical body to be in balance. The other heart which people confuse with the physical heart is actually an emotion, a feeling, a vibrational rate. You cannot just be that heart (the emotion, feeling or vibration) or you become such an empath that you don't know where you start and another begins. You may lose you. Again, it is all about balance. We have healers who say they are heart healers... we never know exactly what they are saying.... Folks point to their heart and say, "I am all heart.. I am only about love." What does this mean??? If a person only focuses on the emotion of heart (love)... then their body is not in harmony. Oh, I can hear the angry retorts... the “you are so wrong”, the “who do you think you are”, the “heart is the only thing”... well, then can you explain why some of these same folks’ bodies are in healing crisis’s? Again, it is all about balance...

So this is about it for this month.... We are finally settled in our home in Seattle. After 5 years of all our stuff in storage, it is so nice just settling in... for now.

Because of such a positive response for the reconnection work.. we are going to extend the cost of $333 until Jan 1, 2003. Remarkable things have been reported from those who chose to be reconnected with “home. The following is a reprint on the reconnection... but do read on because after this reprint, the newsletter continues...

Reconnection

In searching for our roots (so to speak), we have, in the past, studied and visited sacred sites, studied and visited sites of different vibrations, made pilgrimages to other countries to study the religions and artifacts of those countries, read, studied and even some have written many, many books -- but yet, we still “long” for our roots (home). Places like the pyramids of Egypt, the pyramids of South America, the Ancient civilizations such as the Anasazi of Chaco Canyon, the Incas of Machu Picchu... we know we may have been there, but none “feel” right. We gaze into the sky, to the heavens and wonder... “Is that my home?”... We have been told... “you are from the Pleiades” another will say, “you are from Sirius”. Another yet will say, “you are from Andromeda or Orion”... on and on and on and on. You wonder from which galaxy, which constellation, which planet... you might call home..... Nothing quite feels right, but through the years because you have no other choices... actually didn’t know you had other choices... you start believing that one of the above or something else is home. You try to connect... but somehow, nothing feels quite right.

All these places have a draw for us as we are trying to gain pieces of ourselves. As we have advanced vibrationally over the period of years, these sacred sites have become less of a draw for us because we have been able to recreate the level of the vibrations that were in those periods of time. As it turns out, very few of us are from any of the known planets or galaxies. These places although visited by many of us, were probably the first stopping place in “our known universe” when we got here. Since all of the other places were shut down, actually inaccessible to anyone but the Creator... Not even angels, archangels, ascended masters, etc have had access..... At least those assigned to “our world”. It has been like only “we” existed... with our constellations, our galaxies, etc... this has been “the universe”. If anyone has claimed they “channeled beyond this “world”... then run, run fast.... No one, absolutely no one except... well, you know “the Grand Pooh Bear of it all” has had access of any kind to.....

Now, as you read this, we are setting the stage for new adventures. As of November 8, 2003, stargates are opening that have been closed from the time of Lemuria and Atlantis. As the first stargate was opened, it set the stage for the other stargates to open... it is like a domino effect. Haven’t you always known something else existed???? Well, you were (are) right. There is certainly a difference of opinion as to how many “systems”, etc the stargates will open into.... Personally speaking, I don't think any of us know. But, for now, for our purposes in this newsletter... we have been told there are 99 other complete (this is where it gets a little confusing... as we think of our world as a universe... when actually everything inclusive.. seen and unseen is a universe...but, again, for our purposes.. we will call what we are familiar with the first universe... and there are 99 others.... universes. Wow! Folks have called this The Harmonic Concordance. What is it exactly? “ The Harmonic Concordance is simply a multitude of Planetary aspects and shifts, heralding the opening of otherworldly stargates to connect us within the Divine light of Cause, with our other worldly brothers and sister from afar.”

We had a client send us the following:

This Hubble telescope website has some really awesome pictures. It may take awhile to load, even with broadband, but if you'd like to see what it sees in outer space it is well worth it. Each picture has a legend or description at the bottom, so be sure to scroll your screen so you can see the bottom of each picture.

As you look at those pictures, you start to realize how vast the universe(s) is... Now, perhaps, we can find our roots... the question becomes “How?” Strangely enough, or maybe not strange.. we have been shown how to help individuals find his/her creation (first birth) planet and connect to the DNA of that home planet. We cannot activate anyone's DNA... DNA is activated by each individual as his or her vibration increases... but we can connect a person's DNA to that of his or her home. Along the journey, each individual will visit and collect pieces of oneself that have been left in those other planets, galaxies, constellations, etc. and finally anchor oneself to the home planet. Each person gets new gate keepers to help them (these are in addition to the ones that help each person in this dimension). Loren and Diane (together) accompany each person on this journey until the connection is made.

You ask... “Why do I need these folks to help me?” “Why would I want to do this anyway?” “How would that help me today?” “Who do these folks think they are anyway?”

1.... “Why do I need those folks to help me?” Loren and Diane know how to get you to your original home. They are experienced and have the knowledge to facilitate this reconnection and make it as trouble-free, painless, smooth and timely as possible.

2.... “Why would I want to do this anyway?” You have been seeking all your lifetime, never feeling that you belong, that you feel alone. Doing a connection with “home” will make you feel more complete, more balanced, certainly – more connected to family.

3.... “How would that help me today?” Instead of spending time seeking completion, you will be able to use more time “living” and “being”. Just in writing these words, it almost makes us cry. (Not in sorrow but in joy.)

4.... “Who do these folks think they are anyway?” Our purpose is to bring through information. This does not make us the pie.... It just gives us a specialty in bringing new techniques (well new to 3rd dimension) through. We realize that many will say “I can do that, I can do this...” It actually takes both of our combined energies, talents and psychic abilities in addition to lots of TIME to organize all the information, to interpret what in the world is being given to us, and a tremendous amount of fortitude to hold the space while it is all happening. Only then, in combining it with what we already know, what we have read, what we have experienced – can we put it all together to come up with the new technique. Soooooooooooooo, yes, others will say they can do what we do. A diamond mined from the earth also has a look-alike in a cubic zirconia but though it may look like a diamond, the cubic zirconia does not have the properties, the quality, the durability of a diamond. It is at best a quick fix. There are many talents we do not have... I (Diane) am not much of a cook, I can't program computers, I can't adjust like a chiropractor, I can't give massages, I am a horrid singer (in fact have very little musical talent except for listening)... Loren isn't much of a mechanic, he can't do plumbing, he can't play football, he alsowell, we can go on and on and on. What we can do is the work we present to you and do it well. Again, there are many, many things that aren't our talents.. we can do them, but, lets just say, others do them better. We aren't the pie... but our slice in the pie of life.... is the work we have presented to you over the years... and this is our talent.

This work is not part of the Level work we do... It may or may not start another series... who knows.... Certainly not us..... We are calling it RECONNECTION. We have done a few and it takes us about 10 hours.. Paypal is up and running (you can connect through our website www.drsmick.com.) For people considering this... we would prefer (but not insist) that you have done levels 1-5. If you have done Level 6, we will also connect your entire soul monad at the same time. This work is done absentee, but with an appointment as to the time the journey is planned.

If you are interested, please let us know via email (drsmick@aol.com) soon so we can schedule you this month.

Also, we have had a lot of positive feedback on those individuals doing the Orb work... You may want to consider this if your energy is consistently low. Read about this on website or in last month's newsletter.

We want to wish you a very happy season!!!!

Loren and Diane

Now we need to print a disclaimer..... This is very difficult for us, but it is time. The work we do is unique to us.. All the work we do has been channeled information, not techniques or modalities we have experienced from other physical beings here on the planet. It is work that has been given to us to bring to the planet for clearing of the mind and physical body of the self. Many claim after experiencing our work or having others describe the experience think they can do what we do. They will profess that “spirit” told them they can do what we do or out of ego think they can (instead of doing what their individual talents are)... it is easier to be a xerox than an original. So, with all the work described on our website, we’ve trained Dr. Chris Grams, Beverly McLaughlin, Dr. Deb Heim on the Matrix work (Level Two, Part Two), but that is it. No one else has received any training for any of the other work. Do understand, that if folks are saying they do what we do, the work is not being done.
