From our state of deep thought or dreamy abstraction.

No. 26, June 2006

Hello friends...

Thought the above cartoon might bring a chuckle or two to you... it surely did to us... if it were only that easy, huh?

Karen from What is Up On Planet Earth writes that going forward is all about our new roles. Lightworkers arrived on the planet to assist in creating a higher consciousness and to assist in raising the vibration of the planet in order to begin again and to restore its original blueprint. We did this through transmuting the darker and denser energies through ourselves. We took on much darkness and various scenarios to accomplish this great and monumental feat. We became these energies and had the opportunity to experience them in order to transmute them. (Good way of saying that, huh?) Have you ever been trapped or stuck in a situation or a geographical location seemingly unable to leave? You were either transmuting or waiting for your New space to become ready.

It was never about individual karma. It was about all of us and every living thing that embodies the energy of Source energy. We transmuted the lower vibrating energies for everything and everyone. So know that if you have ever felt that you were not vibrating very high and didn't know much, this was absolutely not the case. The lightworkers are the highest vibrating being around. This is why we took on this role and knew we could handle it. We agreed to transmute for the whole as we had certainly evolved far beyond the need to transmute for ourselves. And like the root system of the aspen trees, all our energies are connected as one.

These were our basic roles for the first phase. We also became healers, teachers, and tried at all times to be way show-ers as well. In some regard, we were a bit early with our visions. We were trailblazers, but we knew innately what the higher ways looked like and could only strive to show the planet what we were all about. (Notice, that we said innately.. many times we couldn't verbally say or write about what we were doing, we all just "did" it.)

We are now in a very New phases and it all has to do with critical mass. In January 2006 (according to Karen), we reached a critical mass that enabled us to move over to the higher realms or higher ways of living and being. And then from January to early May, we were integrating in many ways. We have now finished the integrating and aligning and are now in a lull, or a between phase for a bit.

So what is this current lull about? If you are able to let go, surrender, and be in your creativity and in “being” energy, you will find a peace that is indescribable. There is a serenity energy available that is truly divine.

If you are a healer, (or were), for example, and are experiencing a big drop in business, it is because maybe your role as a healer is over. Perhaps there is no more need for you to do it as you have in the past.. Whatever our roles were for the first phase, they were designed to assist in reaching critical mass. Therefore, these roles as we did them are no longer needed. It is time for all of us to explore what we really want to be doing...maybe in the same field, but different approaches, etc. Maybe it will mean seeking new training or classes. It is certainly up to each individual to discover for himself or herself. You may not want your dream or ideal life to be about being a healer or creating a healing center. The great thing about critical mass, it snowballs. This means that once it is reached and integrated, it captures everything along with it.

During this current lull, we can lean back and perhaps gather more information for our new roles. If you are wondering if you now have to go out and get a “real job” when you haven’t had one for awhile or if you are wondering if you have to go back to the life you had before your ascension experience, probably not. It is simply now time for many of us to finally bring forth our visions for the future. As we know, transitions are always transitions are transitions are transitions.... We are letting go while the “new” arrives. While this happens we wonder how we will ever survive financially for a while, until the new is fully in place. But we will survive. Trust that this is so. If you follow your passion and your vision, just wait and see what manifests in the months to come. Things are changing. Just hold on a little longer.

Like everything else in nature, numbers have yin and yang qualities. Odd numbers (1,3,5,7,9) are considered yang while even numbers (2,4,6,8) are considered yin. Since yang quality is associated with growth and prosperity, the yang numbers are generally more desirable than the yin numbers. However, there are many exceptions to the rule.

Eight is considered an auspicious number not only because it sounds the same as “prosperous” or “fa” in Cantonese, but also because it is the yinnest of the yin numbers from 1-9. The Chinese believe that if you are at the bottom, the only way for you to go is up. So 8 stands for potential and for growth: a change from bad luck to good luck. Eight also stands for the 8 trigrams (bagua) – an auspicious symbol of transformation.

Often, numbers are assessed not only in terms of their yin and yang quality or their symbolic meanings, but also on homonymy (corresponding in form or structure), or their sound.

Let it also be known that the word Jesus adds to "888" in Greek Gematria. Greek Gematria increases by a factor of 10 each 8 characters, and the 24th character has a value of 800. Jesus is referred to as being the offspring of David throughout the bible, and that reference is due to the fact that the numerical value of Jesus can be found in the Mars Square. If the Star of David is drawn in the Mars Square, and the numbers in the Mars Square are reduced to single digits, we observe the following phenomenon:

2 6 7 2 3; 4 3 7 8 7; 8 5 4 3 9; 1 9 1 5 4; 5 6 1 2 6

After drawing the Star of David inside this square, we see that the points on the two triangles collect the numbers in such a way that each triangle has a value of 741. The first triangle has the tip at the number '7' in the first row, and its two base points sit at 4 and 1, if we travel clockwise. The inverted triangle has its upper right point at the 7 in the last column, and travels across the column to arrive at the 4 in the first column, and finally the 1 at the tip. Inside the hexagram that the center of the Star forms, we see the number 741 travel down the vertical axis and the number 543 travel across the horizontal axis. $741 + 147 = 888$ and $543 + 345 = 888$. This is why Jesus is referred to as a branch of David.

888...Symbolized infinity. The unified spiral of the physical is merging with the spiritual. Moving toward the completion of the ascension process through the energies of the 222 and 444.

888 - A phase of your life is about to end, and this is a sign to give you forewarning to prepare. This number sequence may mean you are winding up an emotional, career, or relationship phase. It also means there is light at the end of the tunnel. In addition, it means the crops are ripe. Don't wait to pick and enjoy them! In other words, don't procrastinate making your move or enjoying fruits of your labor.

So, what about 8/8/08???? It may prove to be a very important day for you

Outer Balance

During the past several years we have been talking about balance, center and ground, plum-line, etc. Then we read an article written by Richard Seven titled, "The One Sided Story, Working your weak parts will bring back your balance." This message was like a slap in the face (not hard), but like a wake up call to pay attention to what Richard has to say. He states that, for the most part we go through life leaning and listing, bowing and bending. What we do physically... shape our physical bodies. We, as a result, are not physically balanced but have become misaligned or asymmetrical. So if our physical body is not balanced, how can we be more balanced?

This is going way back to the basics. If you are right handed, your left hand tends to be weaker. Taking it a step further, your dominant side tends to be stronger than your non-dominant side. Does being prone to one side of your body to the other affect how your body parts mesh? It seems like it would.

Most of the time our imbalance is slight and acceptable. Some suggest that you examine your posture in the mirror or have a certified personal trainer or health professional do it. You could have a “plum-line test,” which measures your posture against a straight line. Richard had this done and found his right shoulder leans forward.

If you sense your body imbalanced, you could concentrate on the weak side until it catches up, be conscious of your right and left limb handling equal force when doing bilateral exercises, overload the weak side with unilateral exercises and do moderate load on the strong side until you get fairly close to even, and you could work the muscle from different exercise angles to strengthen the whole muscle with different unilateral and eventually bilateral exercises.

Anna Benson, creator of the FitPrime workouts, says the over-reliance on one side poses serious consequences for the aged or others who are sedentary. She suggests trying to incorporate the “other side” in a series of life’s small rituals. Pick up packages with the other arm. Make sure your hips descend and ascend evenly when getting in and out of a chair. Balance on that off leg if you can while putting your pants on.

We are not saying go out and do weight training or exercises... Just be aware of your physical body and if you are having difficulty staying in balance or adjusting your plum-line, this could be a reason. We all have some imbalances, the proper technique is important so get some advice from a professional. We do not want you to cause damage in correcting the imbalance.

After reading that article it brought to mind, right side of the body (male side) and left side of the body (female side.)

One of the things we read about when we were learning to do healing work on others was the flow of energy. Some professed that it would flow in through the left side of the body and out the right side of the body. This all depended on if the individual that you were working with needed male energy or female energy. If the blockage was on the left side of the body, it was then decided it was female energy that was needed or if the blockage was on the right side of the body, it was male energy that was needed.

As we become more and more balanced, it will be more difficult to determine which energy will be needed. It has been our motto, “Keep things simple,” just channel the energy that is needed and do not worry about titling it male or female energy.

New Work
Level 15: Restoring the Vector Code
Inner Balance

Our genetic material (DNA) is composed of 12 base-magnetic “female” base codes (mions) and 12 base-electrical “male” acceleration codes (dions). Ideally, these mions and dions combine to form a potential of 12 vector codes (One Base Code + One Acceleration Code = 1 Vector Code); which eventually manifest as 12 base pairs. Base pairs are the nucleotide building blocks that make up DNA. However, since these magnetic and electrical components are attuned and affected by the earth’s vibrational grid, (this grid that has been distorted for a millennia) only four vector codes have been able to be active and thus our DNA consists of the four base pairs which we know today.

Because the vibrational rate of the earth is changing, inactivated vector codes are ready to be activated. Our DNA is stuck in the old distorted vibrational rate, which allowed only four vector codes to be active.

As we are progressing into higher and higher vibrational rates, we have noticed that some of the 12 base-magnetic “female” base codes and some of the 12 base-electric “male” acceleration codes are aberrated/not in sync/not in tune with the new vibrational rates making it difficult for the vector codes/nucleotide base chemicals to be active.

Over the past decade we have become more silica based in order to channel the energies that we have needed to channel. This has also been necessary in order to allow more DNA to be activated.

The reason that it is so important to get this repair work done now is because in the next few years the Earth is evolving and therefore every organism on the Earth must also evolve with it, because we are intimately connected. The body and the planet are built in the same way. So when the Earth ascends into a higher dimensional, less dense matter state, if you do not have a certain level of DNA activation and can tolerate the change in angular rotation of particle spin inside the atoms that make up your cells, you will not make the transition.

Your next question... “How will this benefit me now?”

- Your personal energy will increase
- More inner balance (various parts of your physical body were vibrating at different rates; this process will unify them)
- More in sync with the world around you and its vibrations
- More balance between the outer you and inner you
- The potential for less aches and pains that currently have no origin
- Easier to channel more information since the vibrational rates are more coherent with each other
- Calmness within the body
- Creativity seems to be waking up and flowing easier

We (Loren and Diane Mickelson) do not activate a person's DNA... nor even balance them... this is done by the person himself/herself as they progress and work through their issues. Your DNA is activated when you have the ability to channel higher vibrations that eventually will increase to the point that all 12 base pairs will be active.

We can, however, work with the Vector Codes. We have the ability to work with the polarity of the Base Codes and the Acceleration Codes.

Our grandchild is doing great. He is starting to coo. His first response is "Oh." We have been singing songs with, oh, in them like, Oh You Beautiful Doll, and Old McDonald had a Farm. It is fun.
